

Information Concerning a Lawyer Form

The Law Society of Alberta is the independent regulator of the legal profession. We regulate in the public interest by promoting and enforcing a high standard of professional and ethical conduct by Alberta lawyers.

The information you provide concerning a lawyer is important and ultimately contributes to ensuring lawyers maintain the high standards demanded of the profession. However, we are unable to assist with matters which: (i) fall outside our mandate as regulator; or (ii) which do not require either early intervention or discipline.

We address most information concerning a lawyer through a proactive approach to resolve issues and/or by working with the lawyer to achieve high standards of service. However, where the information provided poses significant regulatory risk, we will refer it to our discipline process.

When you submit this form, you will receive a letter acknowledging that we have received your information. If you have relevant documents you want us to see, please provide them to us together with this form.

Please be aware that a copy of this form (or a summary of it) and any enclosures will be sent to the lawyer you are providing information about. If you do not want us to share your contact information with the lawyer, you must advise us in writing of any restrictions.

Below are examples of matters that fall outside of our mandate:

1. Other Jurisdictions

The Law Society only has jurisdiction over Alberta lawyers. If your information is regarding a lawyer in another province or territory, please contact the Law Society in that jurisdiction.

2. Fee Disputes

Concerns about a lawyer's fees and charges should be directed to the Review Office at the Court of Queen's Bench of Alberta. Please note that there are time limits on this process so you should pursue this remedy as soon as possible.

3. Financial Compensation

The Law Society of Alberta does not have jurisdiction to pay compensation or provide reimbursement.

If the actions of your lawyer resulted in a financial loss due to theft or negligence, you may be entitled to make a claim with the Alberta Lawyers Indemnity Association (ALIA).

Filing this Information Concerning a Lawyer Form with the Law Society does not initiate an ALIA claim. In order for ALIA to review your claim, you must file a written claim with ALIA directly.

You should also seek independent legal advice.

4. Current Court Matters

Matters involving Court proceedings are regulated by the Rules of Court and the general practice of the Court. In most cases, the Court decides on the conduct of Court proceedings.

The Law Society's process is not an alternative way to resolve a legal dispute you may have with someone else.

The Law Society will not get involved in any related legal disputes and cannot provide you with legal advice or opinion. The Law Society cannot compel a lawyer to withdraw from a file.

The Law Society is committed to communicating with you in a respectful manner and expects the same courtesy. We understand that this process can be stressful. However, we will not accept discriminatory, harassing, or profane communications, or any threatening behavior. Please note that repeated behavior of this kind may result in the Law Society restricting communications with you.
